Tax Bills In Mail; Will Show Increase

By Susan K. O'Neill

On Nov. 8, the town of Andover received state approval to raise approximately $26,140,000 in taxes for fiscal 1986.

Tax bills, which will show increases of three percent for home owners and 3.8 percent for owners of businesses over last year's levies, are slated to reach town taxpayers sometime next week.

Last year, Andover raised approximately $23,900,000 in taxes. This year's increase of $2,240,000 will help fund a number of major projects approved at this year's Town Meeting. These include improvements to water-treatment facilities, roads and the sewer system; the beginning of construction on the Riverina Pumping Station and the Wood Hill Water Storage Tank; and the expansion of Memorial Hall Library. The increase will also accommodate the salaries of five new police patrolmen and four new firemen.

As determined at the Nov. 4 meeting of the Board of Selectmen, businesses will continue to pay a slightly higher rate than home owners. For every $1000 valuation, residential owners will be paying $17.15. The cost to owners of commercial and industrial property will be placed at $21.25 per $1000. Last year, according to figures presented by Budget Finance Director Tony Torrisi, home owners paid $16.64; owners of businesses paid $20.47.

In other words, owners of residential property valued at $100,000 last year would have been taxed $1664. This year, taxes on that same property will cost $1715, an increase of $51. Last year, an owner of business property valued at $100,000 would have paid $2047; this year, he or she will pay $2125, or $78 more than last year.

Last year was the first in which the tax rate differed by classification. Torrisi explains that the Board of Selectmen, after holding extensive public hearings, had exercised a right to "shift the tax burden" among classes; the resulting "shift" of 15 percent to businesses was substantially lower than the maximum allowed within the guidelines for the action.

If the "shift" had not been approved again this year by the board, tax rates for fiscal 1986 would have been $18.48 per $1000 for both businesses and homes. Using the above examples, both would have to pay $1848 on a piece of property assessed at $100,000. Classification, then, gives the home owner of such a property a break of $133, while costing the owner of a similarly-assessed business $277.

"There is some interest somewhere down the road in going back to one tax rate," says Torrisi, "but the selectmen haven't discussed it." He cited "philo-

Five Flags Stolen

Five of the United States flags that were hung on North Main Street in honor of the Veteran's Day celebration on Monday, Nov. 11, were stolen sometime over the weekend.

The flags were reported stolen by Officer Dennis Lane, on Monday morning, according to Lt. Richard Enos. The flags were stolen and the flag poles were bent from the Morton Street site where they were hung by volunteers for the Veteran's Day events.

"We have had flags taken before from the Police and Fire Station and from the Town Hall, but this is the first time that as many as five have been taken from the same area at one time," Lane said.

The flags are donated and hard to replace, according to John Lewis, Director of Veterans Services.

"Not only do they steal the flags but they also destroy the flag poles," Lewis said. "This is the worst bit of vandalism that we have had at one time. The culprits should be aware that if they are caught, they will be prosecuted," Lewis said.

There is no information at this time, regarding suspects in the flag theft, according to Lane.

Education Week Is Proclaimed

Selectmen at their last meeting signed a proclamation declaring next week as American Education Week.

The week of Nov. 17-23 has been declared education week and the board issued the proclamation to members of the Andover Education Association.

In the proclamation, the board noted that the concept of a free and equal education is an American tradition and this country's strength and that all citizens have a responsibility to support the public schools. Selectmen urged all citizens to make a commitment to public education and to the future of Andover's children by visiting their public schools and by donating their time and talents to help make the public schools even better.

Monthly Glass Drive This Saturday

The November drive for clear and green recyclable glass will be held this Saturday, Nov. 16, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the old town hall parking lot bounded by Barnard, Bartlet and Park Streets. Andover Recycling, Inc. volunteers will be present during those hours to assist anyone who needs help. All types of bottles and jars are recycled each month in a large divided container provided by David B. White of North Atlantic Recycling Services. Taking glass out of the town's waste stream saves money on tipping fees at the North Andover solid waste facility and reduces wear and tear on hauling and waste processing equipment.

Diploma Requirements On Agenda

Curriculum and instruction assessment plans and high school diploma requirements will be some of the topics discussed when the School Committee meets next Tuesday, Nov. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor meeting room of the school administration offices in the Town Office Building, off Whittier Street.

Selectmen Cancel Session

The Board of Selectmen's meeting, scheduled for Monday, Nov. 18, has been cancelled. The next meeting of the board has not been re-scheduled at this time.

Advisory Council To Meet

The Parents Advisory Council of the Doherty Junior High, 36 Bartlet St., will meet tonight in the school

Media Center, located on the first floor at Doherty Junior High, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

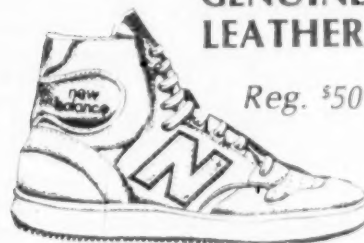

Appreciation Expressed For Scoreboards

A plaque in appreciation of the work that Pepsi Cola Co., of Methuen, has done, was given last Tuesday by the School Committee to Donald Sorrie, plant manager of the Pepsi Cola Co., of Methuen. The firm donated a new scoreboard for the high school basketball team last spring and a new scoreboard for the high school football team this fall.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

The second year of life for a baby introduces new clothing requirements. Infants are well provided for as long as they are kept warm and dry. Toddlers need clothes that allow them free movement and lend themselves to speedy dressing and undressing. Since children are more mobile and may be toilet trained during the second year of life, they need more and different kinds of clothes. Once toddlers master the art of walking, climbing and running, they will need warmer and sturdier clothes. They will get dirtier too, so look for fabrics that will take hard scrubbing.

You will find the furniture to suit your decor at TINY TOTLAND. We carry baby furniture by Simmons, Childcraft, Bassett & Morigeaux. Baby toys...everything from "heaven to seven". Open 9-5:30. Anthurium

The anthurium is a waxy, heart-shaped flower centered with a yellow spike. A European gardener searching for new varieties of orchids discovered the anthurium in the 1880s in the uplands of Mexico. Today, many commercial anthuriums are grown in Hawaii.

Other names for the anthurium are flamingo flower, oilcloth flower and tailflower.

The spike in the center of the flower should be greenish yellow when bought; it will turn bright yellow as the flower matures. Place anthuriums in shallow water and keep out of sunlight and away from extreme heat and cold. With proper care, anthuriums will last up to three weeks.

It took a new kind of car loan to get us out of the same old rut.

"Ah, the conventional family car. For us, just hearing those words conjured up images of big fat station wagons with AM radios and french fries between the seats. But we wanted more than just a family bus. We wanted a car that could handle our family and our lifestyle. And we actually found a way to do it without breaking the budget."

The First Choice Auto Loan.

It's a whole new way to buy a car. And once you explore it we're sure it will be your first choice in loans to get your first choice in cars. Here's how it works: First, you tell us the car you want to buy. Next we establish what that car's trade-in or residual value will be at the end of the loan period (You can choose a 2-4 year term with First Choice). We then subtract that residual value from the purchase price less any down payment, and calculate your principal payments on the difference. This means that while you pay interest on the total loan, your monthly payments don't reflect repayment of the residual value.

The result?

Your monthly payments are 20-50% less for the same car. Or, you can get a much better car for about the same payments you were planning on. Then at the end of your loan term you have three options open to you: Sell the car yourself, pay back the residual value of the car to the Bank and pocket the difference; return the car, in good condition, to a designated drop off point; or keep the car by simply paying back the Bank or refinancing the remaining residual value.

Call 1-800-848-AUTO.

You can find out about the First Choice Auto Loan with a single phone call. And we'll answer any questions you might have as well. So call today, and get your First Choice.

Education Law Seminars Scheduled

The implementation of Chapter 188, the state's Public School Improvement Law, will be the focus of six evening seminars being sponsored by the Massachusetts Department of Education.

Chapter 188, which was signed into law in July by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis, calls for significant changes in the way public schools operate. It has been called "the most important piece of education legislation in the last 20 years" by Commissioner of Education John H. Lawson. The legislation provides some $211 million in state funds over the next two years to help local school districts implement Chapter 188.

"Although we were delighted at the overwhelming response to those meetings, we realize that many people, especially parents and teachers, were not able to attend because of commitments to jobs and other reasons," said Lawson.

The seminar for this region will be held November 25 at Northeast

Regional Education Center, 219 North St., North Reading, at 7:30 p.m.

Planners Review Protection Of Town's Watershed Areas

By Susan K. O'Neill

The Planning Board discussed protection of Andover's watershed areas, a facet of the town's proposed Master Plan, at Tuesday night's meeting.

Considering a report by planner Frances M. Fink, members debated potential zoning changes and special regulations to protect the town water supply from the contamination that comes with a dense and growing population.

According to Fink's report, approximately 40 percent of the town watershed—lands draining directly or indirectly into Haggetts and Fish Brook Ponds—is now protected from development. Of the remainder, 42 percent is now or probably will soon be developed; 17.4 percent is privately-held and undeveloped (this segment includes holdings from the Indian Ridge Country Club). The land in the latter segment is, for the most part, zoned Single Residence B and C.

SR B and C zonings allow for cluster developments (subject to regulations and Planning Board approval) and regulated new construction of multi-family dwellings. Many of the privately-owned watershed lots, if developed, would require septic systems for waste disposal.

Both lawn care chemicals and septic systems, according to Fink's study, can spell contamination for the pond waters; both release phosphates into the soil. Phosphates not filtered by the soil leach into the groundwaters and, in time, into the ponds.

Algae thrive in the presence of phosphates, said Fink; the resultant "algae bloom" taints the taste and quality of drinking water pulled from the pond. Fink cited records from the 40's, 50's and 60's that indicate that the water quality in the Andover area has changed; chloride levels, for example, have risen over the years. "Another thing you can say," she said, "is that anytime the watershed gets urbanized, water quality goes down."

Fink suggested that rezoning lots now SR B to SR C, or creating a new category of SR D, with minimum lot sizes of 1 to 1½ acres, might decrease septic system use by increasing the potential size of lots—thereby reducing the number of units that could be built. She added that she, personally, did not feel such changes would really be helpful because they would allow for bigger lawns. "I would like to see a lot less emphasis on big lawns and pesticide use," she said.

"Have you considered zoning that permits sewers only?" asked board member Michael Houghton.

Replying that many of the areas in question will not be slated for town sewer in the near future, Fink said that sewers also invite development of land that, if not on a line, might be left undeveloped—which would add to the population density problem.

Fink said that the Board of Health was considering a measure to mandate the periodic cleaning of septic systems in the watershed area, as well as strict regulations for allowable distances between septic systems and the groundwater.

One feasible approach that the board could take to protect the area, suggested Fink, would be the creation of an "overlay zone"—a zone encompassing the watershed district and setting up special, more conservation-minded regulations for building and development as an adjunct to existing zoning.

Fink's proposals for an "overlay zone" would allow residential development with a maximum density of one unit per acre (one per two-thirds in cluster developments). The slope of each lot could not exceed 15 percent, and "natural vegetation" would have to be allowed to flourish on 40 percent of each lot. In cluster developments, that 40 percent could not include the 30 percent open space required in the development itself.

Fink said that she had arrived at the 40 percent figure through studies of other communities' zoning by-laws and through consideration of building proportions compared to lot sizes. The "natural vegetation," she specified, should, ideally, cover the area through which drainage would flow.

Among uses prohibited in the zone, according to Fink's proposal, would be structures within 25 feet of the high water line of any body of water. Among uses requiring special permit, the proposal cited "ponds or pools or other changes in water bodies or courses, created for swimming, fishing or other recreational uses, agricultural use, or drainage improvements."

The board discussed the proposal at length, citing problems of enforcement on the "natural vegetation" issue. "We would have to look at specific sites," said Chairman Margaret Bradshaw, in order to determine what plantings would be appropriate under the classification.

Board member Michael Houghton suggested that the proposed distance between a structure and water be increased to 50 feet.

On the special permit question, Bradshaw asked, "Does this mean that everyone who wants to build a pool will have to come before the Planning Board?"

Fink replied that the regulation was intended to govern natural water ponds and pools, not constructed swimming pools.

Chairman Bradshaw admonished the board to study the proposal further. "Let's think in terms of—if we want to take this up at Town Meeting, we should give Fran further direction," she said. The issue will be addressed again at the board's Dec. 10 meeting.

Interestingly enough, the board's next item of business was to consider preliminary plans for a new subdivision tentatively slated for an area within the watershed. "Hitchcock Farms," a parcel of more than 25 acres divided into 11 lots, would be located off Haggetts Pond Road.

The plan's presenter, land surveyor Steve Stapinski of Merrimack Engineering Services, Inc., stated that the subdivision would feature septic systems, town water, drainage into and through two adjacent wetlands and a bridle easement for access to an existing horse trail leading into adjacent conservation lands. The size and layout of the lots would make them suitable for the ownership of horses, he said.

Because the land would fall under regulations for the "overlay district" if that zoning were approved, the board asked Stapinski whether the developer would consider setting aside 40 percent of each lot for natural vegetation. "I'm not sure," said Stapinski. Then he added, "Maybe 40 percent of the total acreage."

During the discussion, chairman Bradshaw noted, "You put your road through the middle of wetlands. Is there any reason why, with frontage on the Haggetts Pond Road, you have to cut through wetlands?"

Stapinski cited the slope and grade of the land. For any other road plan, he said, "We would have a very large cut."

A number of abutters to the proposed subdivision voiced concerns about water drainage, traffic safety problems and the introduction of horses into the area. Abutter Ted Whitman said that the culvert on Haggetts Pond Road, which would handle some of the drainage, does not work properly. "It really can't hold any more drainage in that area," he said, adding that water backs up in his driveway at least twice a year.

The board agreed to visit the site and consider the question of approval of the preliminary plans at their meeting on Nov. 26.

The board also held a public hearing on definitive plans for Castle Green, a subdivision proposed for a location off Lovejoy Road. Engineer Paul Ferrante of Dana Perkins explained the plans to an audience of approximately 20 concerned abutters and neighbors. He said that its 10 lots will be served by a road that enters across from Sanborn School and terminates in a cul-de-sac.

Earlier plans for Castle Green had been modified at the board's request, explained Ferrante, to avoid placing a drainage burden on abutters. The roadway had been lowered; a system of catch basins had been proposed to divert water to an eight-inch connector pipe at Wildrose Avenue.

Bradshaw requested the addition of a sidewalk to the plan. "Those kids will walk to Sanborn School," she said.

Ferrante successfully fielded questions from abutters concerned about drainage.

June Morris, whose property abuts the proposed subdivision, asked Bradshaw if the board would notify concerned parties about their final decision on the plan. Bradshaw said they would not, but that meetings are "a matter of public record."

Asked by Morris if surrounding property owners could appeal a decision through the board, Bradshaw said they couldn't. "I would refer you to your legal counsel," she advised.

In answer to a question about the placement of the potential road, Ferrante indicated that the entrance had been moved 25 to 30 feet from its originally-planned site to avoid traffic problems with cars entering and leaving Sanborn School.

The board will make a decision on the definitive plan for Castle Green at its Nov. 26 meeting.

In other actions, the board:

- at the applicant's request, voted to withdraw an application by a party (Haddad) for a special permit to change the location of required parking in the GB zone;

- agreed to recommend to the building inspector that a previously-proposed site plan for an Industrially-zoned building, to be built for the Crusader Paper Co. of Lawrence on speculation, has been changed to meet the board's approval. Improvements in the Connector Road site plan included a reduction in and improved location of truck docks, improvements in proposed building facade and layout, the removal of a railroad spur and more landscaping;

- unanimously approved definitive plans for Trombly Court, a street to be located off Andover Street, on the provision that it be designated strictly a private way;

- unanimously approved definitive plans for a private, 20-foot-wide road off Pettingill Avenue;

- unanimously disapproved the definitive plan for Devonshire Place, a six-house subdivision off Osgood Street, on grounds of public safety problems and an engineering discrimination between the plans as voted and as previously submitted;

Jail-A-Thon Benefit Successful

The Jail-A-Thon that was recently held at the Methuen Mall by the American Cancer Society was a big success. June Rock of North Andover and Sandy Shaker of Andover, co-chairpersons, reported that the $44,461 pledged was the most ever raised by the local unit from one activity.

"The Jail-A-thon seemed to capture the imagination of the entire community. The efforts of a lot of fine people made the event the success that it was," said Shaker.

Singled out for special thanks were the Methuen Police Department, including Chief DeSantis and William Rayno, the Lawrence Police Department with Leo Ouellette and his many recruits, the Andover Police Department and the North Andover Police Auxiliary.

Also praised by Rock and Shaker were the many hardworking volunteers, the arrestees, local media and the thousands who pledge "bail money" in the form of donations to the American Cancer Society.

Food, beverages and t-shirts were donated by Bavarian Strudel and Arby's of the Methuen Mall and Salem Coca-Cola.

Those not contacted who would like to donate may do so by sending their contributions to Jail-A-thon, American Cancer Society, 853 Main St., Tewksbury, MA 01876.

Bird Of Paradise

The bird of paradise is from South Africa and is related to the banana. It really does look like a bird's head and combines the six primary and secondary colors. Red, yellow and blue blend into orange, green and violet in this brilliant bloom. An unusual feature of the flower is that as one bloom withers, another slips into its place.

Buy vivid colors; if the colors look faded, the flowers may be a bit old. Place birds in very clean vases and add a floral preservative to the water.

Parenting Symposium At West

The Andover West Junior High School Parents Advisory Council and Andover Community Schools are sponsoring a symposium on Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m. in the DeCesare Media Center at Andover West Junior High School.

Mrs. Jacquelyn G. Sowers, national consultant on the adolescent, will keynote this session entitled "The Unheralded Midlife Crisis: Parenting an Early Adolescent." According to Sowers, "Parenting an early adolescent is the least talked about 'midlife crisis'.

"Some of the specific issues to be addressed include: the developmental tasks of adolescence, according to the experts and according to the kids themselves; sharing of 'the hardest decisions' faced by a group of 15 to 16 year olds; discussion of how kids perceive the pressures to achieve academically and socially during the junior high years; some facts about 'the big four,' alcohol, drugs, driving and sex; and several techniques for communication and ways to assist your youngster in coping effectively with all these pressures."

William E. Hart, principal, invites members of the community to attend and participate.

At one time a person had to kiss the first one of the opposite sex met on St. Valentine's Day.

Ballardvale Anniversary

An ecumenical service was held Sunday at the Ballard Vale United Church, led by the Rev. Gary Cornell, in celebration of Ballardvale's 150th anniversary. Residents and guests joined Rev. Cornell and guest, Rev. James Vitali, O.S.A. who represented St. Joseph's and St. Augustine's church, in the service and reception that followed, hosted by the Ballardvale Village Improvement Society. A gift from the village to the town was given and several awards were presented to village residents in recognition of their service and contribution to the improvement of Ballardvale. Photos clockwise from upper left: Service being conducted in the Ballard Vale United Church; Elizabeth Ready, 18 months, of Pole Hill Drive provides her own beverage during the reception; Ruth Sharpe presents the first award to Ed R. Brown, accepted by his son Roy Brown (standing right); Rev. Gary Cornell reads to the audience during the service; Rev. James Vitali, O.S.A., and Rev. Cornell greet people after the service; Selectman Donn Byrne and Town Manager Kenneth Mahony share a laugh together when they mistakenly introduced each other at the same time to make the thank you speech for the gift, an 1881 painting of the Ballardvale community, given to the town by the society; Fred Kidd, Rocky Hill Road, looks over old photos and drawings of the Ballardvale area.

Plan Ahead

"Because of increased security measures and heavy holiday travel, airline passengers may experience delays at airports," says Marge Stewart, manager of the AAA Travel Agency in Lawrence.

New security measures include suspension of curbside check-in on international flights, closer scrutiny of carry-on luggage and selective hand inspection of checked luggage.

"To avoid delays, travelers should make certain that their baggage contains no articles that security personnel may consider dangerous," says Stewart.

The following practices will minimize air travel delays: obtain boarding passes and seat assignments in advance; allow sufficient time for parking, check-in and baggage inspection; carry-on luggage must fit beneath the seat or in overhead bins; remove old airline destination baggage tags; clearly identify each piece of luggage with name and address; try to fly during non-peak hours (mid-day or late evening).

Twelve to 15 thousand flock to his readings in the Soviet Union. "Time" magazine calls him that country's "greatest living poet." The "New York Times" agrees, calling his recitals "brilliant" and "dramatic" after his visit to the United Nations 1st June in honor of World Environment Day. His name is Andrei Voznesensky, and he will read from his works this Thursday, Nov. 14, in George Washington Hall at 8 p.m. The recital is free and open to the public.

Born in Moscow in 1933, Voznesensky began as a painter. He graduated from the Moscow Architectural Institute in 1958 and went on to design such landmarks as the Monument of Georgian Culture and the Monument of All Languages in the World. He created a series of contemporary paintings with Robert Rauschenberg. Poetry, however, emerged as the essence of his life. With the guidance and teaching of Pasternak, a close personal friend, Voznesensky developed a verse which, according to W.H. Auden, conveys "equal interest in animals and airports, native and alien landscapes, and the variety of tones, elegiac, comic, grotesque, quiet, rebellious, etc., which he can command."

The author of 12 books of poetry and prose, Voznesensky has published many works in the United States, including "Antiworlds" (1967, Schocken Books), "Story Under Full Sail" illustrated by Marc Chagall (1974, Doubleday) and "Nostalgia for the Present" (1979, Doubleday). He received an honorary degree from Oberlin College in June 1985.

Voznesensky comes to Andover as the second in a series of special guests for the 1986 Headmaster's Symposium: "The Soviet Union: Beyond Stereotypes, Toward Understanding." The symposium will include a variety of speakers, films and exhibitions. A full schedule of events is available through the Office of Public Information at Phillips Academy.

Urban Studies Receives Funds

Seven businesses in the Greater Lawrence area have joined with other donors in contributing $20,000 to the Lawrence/Phillips Academy Urban Studies Institute. Susan Lloyd, Phillips history instructor and coordinator of the institute, reports that the funds will be used to support a study of the opportunities for employment training available to young Hispanic Americans in the Lawrence area. The study is an extension of the concerns of the Hispanic Advisory Committee of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, organized in 1981 while Nicholas Rizzo was president.

The Urban Studies Institute, a student exchange program which seeks to teach and contribute to expanding scholarship on American cities, was begun to offer students from Lawrence High School and Phillips Academy a multidisciplinary introduction to urban studies. The Lawrence High School students selected for the program attend classes and live in academy dormitories for one academic term. Each year, this intensive 10-week program has included the study of urban issues and a field-work project in the city of Lawrence. Other faculty members teaching and guiding students in this project are Emilio Mozo, a specialist in Latin American history and vocational counseling, and Edwin Quattlebaum who holds a doctorate in Urban History. Eileen Khoury is the principal organizer of the institute at Lawrence High School.

Contributors to this year's special study on employment training include Andover Savings Bank, Arlington Trust Co., Auto Specialty Sales, Bank of N.E. Bay Bank, Bay State Gas Co., Essex Street Trust, First Essex Savings Bank, Lawrence General Hospital and Lawrence Savings Bank. The companies and institutions contributing to the Urban Studies Institute have been leaders in the support of the Hispanic Advisory Committee.

The 1985-86 study will be undertaken by the three Urban Studies Institute faculty members and assisted throughout April and May by its 17 Lawrence and Andover students.

Hospital Celebrates Birthday

Northeast Rehabilitation Hospital is celebrating its first birthday through Sunday, Nov. 17. Since opening its doors in November 1984, more than 1,000 patients have been served at the modern facility located on a former hunting estate in Salem, N.H. The only free-standing hospital for comprehensive medical rehabilitation in the state of New Hampshire, the 102-bed facility is all on one level and provides a barrier-free environment for the wheelchair patient.

Debra Swift, director of admission, reports that during the first year, "Patients have come from as far away as California, Florida, Canada and Jamaica and as near as the next street." All ages have benefited from the rehab process. "Our oldest patient was 97 and our youngest was six," states Swift. "What they've all had in common was the need for comprehensive medical rehabilitation and

Consensus Units Scheduled

The League of Women Voters of Andover will conduct consensus units on the national security study on Monday, Nov. 18, beginning at 11:30 a.m. and Wednesday, Nov. 20, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Monday's hostess is Judy Smith, 11 College Circle (off Vine between Holt Road and Route 125) and Bink Roberts, 160 Lowell St., is Wednesday's. To arrange for child care for the daytime unit, contact Karen (Mrs. Bruce) Young, 4 Olympia Way, by Friday, Nov. 15.

Local leagues nationwide have been asked to evaluate the U.S. economic and military aid to developing countries and its relationship to our international economic and political interests. Each local league will decide which international economic and political interests should determine U.S. policies toward developing countries and which should not. Then, the Economic Support Fund, military aid and direct military involvement will be considered for appropriateness. The LWVUS already has a position favoring development aid so that will be added to other appropriate means and those ranked in preference. Finally, the role of U.S.-Soviet relations as they influence U.S. policies toward developing countries as well as possible efforts at reducing U.S.-Soviet competition in developing countries will be assessed.

Participants will have time to eat their own sandwiches and share in coffee and dessert before the showing of the video tape, "The Third World Challenge to U.S. Policy," at noon on Monday. The Wednesday meeting will begin with dessert with the video scheduled for 7:45 p.m. The tape was produced by the UWVUS Education Fund.

All unit meetings are open to the public, but consensus is limited to members only. Membership is open for all ages of men and women, but voting members must be citizens of the U.S. and 18 years or older. This is necessary since the positions reached by consensus are used for lobbying; in this case at the national level. Previous consensus reached has resulted in efforts during the fall months to reduce expenditures for the Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI or "Star Wars") to the lowest possible level.

For more information on the league, contact the president Chris Holmes, 14 Whispering Pines, or membership chairperson, Therese Reichert, 49 Cheever Circle.

Bishop Fast Day Speaker

One of the nation's leading Catholic bishops in advocating an active role for the church in peace and justice issues will be the speaker at Merrimack College for this year's Fast Day observance.

Bishop Thomas J. Gumbleton of Detroit, president of Bread for the World and Pax-Christi U.S.A., will discuss world hunger and other peace and justice issues on Wednesday, Nov. 20, in Alumni Hall in the McQuade Library at 8 p.m.

Bishop Gumbleton will be the principal celebrant and homilist at a special 12 noon Fast Day Mass on Thursday, Nov. 21, in the Collegiate Church of Christ the Teacher on the Merrimack campus in North Andover. Music for the liturgy will be led by Michael Brien, a North Andover composer and performer of religious and liturgical music.

The Campus Ministry Center is again sponsoring Fast Day 1985, a nation-wide observance on the Thursday before Thanksgiving, sponsored by Oxfam-America. Administrators, faculty, staff and students at Merrimack will be asked to skip lunch on Fast Day to help feed the hungry of the world. The money will be donated in equal amounts to Oxfam America, to help alleviate the continuing famine in Ethiopia, and to area Catholic parishes for families in need. This local share will be used for Thanksgiving dinners for the poor. Last year, 24 families were able to have a Thanksgiving dinner because of the generosity of the Merrimack College community.

Bishop Gumbleton was ordained to the priesthood in 1956. He has served in the Archdiocese of Detroit as an assistant pastor and vice chancellor before going to Rome to complete a doctorate in canon law at the Pontifical Lateran University. Ordained auxiliary bishop in 1968, he serves as regional bishop for the Center City region, the inner-city parishes of Detroit.

Bishop Gumbleton was one of the five bishops who drafted the United States bishops' pastoral letter, "The Challenge of Peace: God's Promise and Our Response."

All are welcome to attend the lecture and participate in the Mass.

In addition, you can consolidate your monthly bills; pay off an existing second mortgage; take swift action when the right opportunity comes along; or just be ready for any unexpected expenses.

You have nothing to lose.

Since Bank of Boston charges no application fee, there's no reason not to apply for our Home Equity Credit Line. All owner-occupied, one-to-four-family homes and condominiums are eligible for a credit line anywhere from $10,000 to $100,000. Andover High Lights

Students Against Driving Drunk is the club at Andover High School that can proudly boast the largest membership. It consists of 450 students, six officers and two faculty advisors. Its main purpose is simple—to combat the deadly combination of drinking and driving.

The officers meet on a weekly basis with co-advisors Patty Barrett and Mike Marcoux. Each session lasts approximately two hours and is used to plan events, publicity and functions. Taking priority in recent weeks has been the coordination of the second annual SADD night.

SADD night '85 will be held Thursday, Nov. 31, at 7 p.m. in the Collins Center. All parents, students and community members are invited. The program will start with a guest speaker and conclude with student-run small group discussions.

There are three specific goals that club members have set for SADD night '85:

02804502 To provide for communication between parents and students;

To make students and parents aware of the scope of the drinking and driving problem;

To create alternative forms of entertainment for Andover youth.

The Andover SADD chapter was founded four years ago by student John Drake, class of '85. Drake, with the help of Lynn McCoart, health teacher, and Mike Marcoux, counselor, started the ball rolling making the club what it is today. Andover was the first school in the Merrimack Valley to form a chapter of the nationwide program.

Marcoux and Barrett are very enthusiastic about the year's program. The officers couldn't ask for a better pair of advisors. President Laura Cervone states, "They are helpful, knowledgeable and friendly. Most of all, they work hard."

Barrett, a health teacher at the high school, received her B.S. in Education at Springfield College. She is working toward her Master's in Education at Northeastern University.

Marcoux, coordinator of the drug and alcohol program for grades 7-12, also serves as the student government advisor. He graduated from Merrimack College with a B.A. in Education and Psychology and received his Master's in Psychological Counseling from Tufts University.

Western Roundup

By Anneli Finn, Jessica Hill and Kristy Litchfield

Last Friday, Nov. 8, West Junior High School held a ceremony in the courtyard to honor Veteran's Day. A plaque was set into the ground next to a tree planted two years ago on Veteran's Day, dedicating it to the deceased soldiers who once attended West Junior High. The ceremony began with a march played by the band while the flag was brought forth. This was followed by speeches by Principal William E. Hart and student government officers. The eighth grade boys' glee club sang the National Anthem and "You're a Grand Old Flag" and "Taps" was played on the trumpet. The march was played again as the students went back into the building.

On October 24, the school hosted a math team meet for six teams from the Intermediate Math League of Eastern Massachusetts. Our team came in second. In our cluster (there are groups of teams called clusters; members of the same cluster do not necessarily compete at the same meet), West Junior High came in first. Top scorers were Steve Liaw, first place with 15 points; Nicole Belle Isle, second place with 13 points; and Chris Klein and Sanjiv Sheel, tied for third place each with 12 points. Also competing on the winning team were Lynn Baker, Jodie Imbriglio, Jeff Lang, Senia Maymin, Mike Plankey and Tom Wang. Advisors for the school's math team are Mrs. McLellan, math teacher, and Mr. Whyte, math and science teacher. The snacks enjoyed by 150 competitors at the meet were made by Mrs. Devney, cooking teacher.

DEEP FREEZE

Consumers with modest frozen food storage needs may select a single-door, "basic" refrigerator for their kitchens. However, they may well be better off with a refrigerator that has a separate compartment and door for the freezer area. This suggestion comes from the Major Appliance Consumer Action Panel. It reports that many consumers who have the single-door models are dissatisfied with them. They complain that the freezer does not stay cold enough to freeze anything but ice cubes. Any frozen product with sugar, such as ice cream, requires an 8°F temperature to remain frozen. To maintain such a low temperature, a separate freezer compartment within the refrigerator is needed.

Prizes Awarded Bike-A-Thon Riders

Three local people and three Bon Secours Hospital employees have been awarded prizes for raising the most money through pledges for the first annual 20-mile Bon Bike-A-Thon held October 6 to benefit the cancer management program of Bon Secours Hospital of Methuen.

"The overall community and hospital employee support of the Bike-A-Thon was outstanding," commented William L. Lane, hospital executive director. "Each and every rider should be commended. With their enthusiastic support and great success of this first Bon Bike-A-Thon, we look forward to even greater participation in years to come."

First prize, a ten-speed bicycle donated by Lawrence Lodge of Elks and Lawrence Knights of Columbus, went to James Surprenant of Lawrence, who raised $4,792 of the total $20,662 pledged. Second prize, a $50 gift certificate donated by Sports 28 in Salem, N.H., was awarded to Judy Loeb of Andover for raising $1,355 and third prize, two tickets to a Boston Bruins game, donated by Russ Conway, sports editor of the "Lawrence Eagle Tribune," was awarded to Joseph Messina of Lawrence who raised $715.

Thirty-one Bon Secours Hospital employees were among the nearly 100 riders participating in the event. A duplicate set of prizes was awarded to the three employees raising the most money. First prize went to Maureen Newcomb of Methuen, aseptic technician, respiratory therapy department; second prize, Edward George of Salem, N.H., associate hospital director, operations; and third prize, Carla Moses of Lawrence, medical staff services coordinator, who rode a bicycle-built-for-two along with Paul Westerlind of Worcester, controller.

The Bike-A-Thon was held in memory of Mary C. Gelineau whose family and friends have generously supported the Bon Secours Hospital cancer management program in the past.

Concert Dance Company Performs

The Kaleidoscope performance series presents two children's performance by Concert Dance Company of Boston on Saturday, Nov. 23, at West Junior High School, Shawsheen Road, Andover. The company will perform "You Call That Dancin'" at a 1 p.m. show for preschoolers ages 3-6 and a 3 p.m. show for ages 6-12. This is the first event in Kaleidoscope's fifth annual series.

The program centers on the recollections of five highly spirited dancers sharing their sometimes funny, sometimes touching, beginnings, from the early years as baton twirlers, ballerinas and tap dancers to the challenges of being professional dancers today. The dancers and the children in the audience experience the excitement of dance through a warm and humorous format. The music ranges from "Sweet Georgia Brown" to Sousa marches to Beethoven and Telemann. Soft shoe, ballet, jazz and modern dance all become part of the program.

Concert Dance Company was founded in 1967 and began touring in New York in 1976. Clive Barnes of the "New York Times" heralded the performance for its "humor, beauty and dexterity...a special pleasure." Since then, CDC has traveled throughout New England and toured nationally.

Churches Gather For Peace Service

There will be an Ecumenical Prayer Service for Peace on Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 8 p.m. at St. Robert's Church, 198 Haggetts Pond Road, Andover. This service is the second in a series of nine monthly Prayer Services for Peace sponsored by the Andover Ecumenical Peace Group. The theme of this month's service will be world peace, focusing on the Geneva Summit and the negotiations between the United States and the Soviet Union for a halt to the nuclear arms race. Fr. Bill Mullin, the Parochial Vicar at St. Robert's, says he hopes that many people will come to this Ecumenical Prayer Service to express their concern for an end to the nuclear arms race and to pray that the Geneva Summit will be the beginning of a new stage in the efforts to turn away from a nuclear confrontation with the Soviet Union.

The Andover Ecumenical Peace Group, formed a year and a half ago, is made up of clergy and laity from the various churches in Andover. They have been working to get members of their churches to sign a Covenant for Peace. This Covenant for Peace is a four-fold commitment to pray, study, dialogue with others and try to attend the monthly Ecumenical Peace Service. Each church will bring their Covenant for Peace Book with signatures from their church and these will be brought forward at a point in the service. Those interested in signing the covenant may do so at the end of the service.

Refreshments will be served in the parish hall. For further information, call Fr. Mullin.

Christmas School At Church

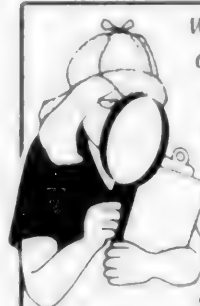

Faith Lutheran Church, 360 South Main St., Andover, will again host Christmas School for four and five year olds during the week of December 2-6 from 9:30 a.m. to 11:15 a.m.

Christmas school is an ecumenical endeavor with women from the Andover area churches volunteering to teach the religious significance of Christmas. The children learn about angels, shepherds, wisemen and the events leading to the birth of Jesus Christ.

Through stories, songs, puppets and craft activities, the children learn that there is much more to Christmas than "Jingle Bells" and Santa Claus.

The week culminates with all the children taking part in a reenactment of the nativity complete with angel choir. Family and friends are invited to this performance.

To register, call Mrs. Douglas G. Chapin, 21 Lucerne Drive, Andover.

Professor To Be Lecturer

Dr. Michael Cherick, associate professor of Rabbinics, Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, of New York will be the weekend guest lecturer at the Third Benjamin Russem Scholar-in-Residence Weekend at Temple Emanuel in Andover, November 15-17.

Family and friends of Benjamin Russem, Andover resident and prominent Greater Lawrence businessman for more than half a century, memorialized him and the contributions he made to the community by establishing a fund, making it possible for the Andover temple to periodically schedule such scholars-in-residence programs.

The Third Scholar-in-Residence program will begin with a Greater Lawrence Clergy Institute on Friday, Nov. 15, when Dr. Chernick will speak on "Jewish Law and Jewish Spirituality," Jewish Law, not as legalism, but as the repository of the spiritual message. A luncheon will be served to all clergy, sponsored by the Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel.

At Sabbath Eve Services, Dr. Chernick will speak on "Traditional Judaism: A Search for a Hidden Treasure. . ." "no contemporary Jewish movement can truly lay claim to being 'traditional' Judaism. . ."

At a Continental Breakfast at 9:45 a.m. Sunday, Dr. Chernick will discuss "Alive even until this day," Talmudic traditions have shaped Jewish life, and continue to influence Jewish and sometimes even secular life.

Friday night and Sunday morning lectures are open to the public.

Black Nativity At South Church

Black Nativity, a powerful Gospel song-and-dance celebration of the Birth of Christ, returns to South Church Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p.m., having played to a packed house two years ago. It will be presented by the National Center of Afro-American Artists, with a small cast of actors including Mary, Joseph, a shepherd and the Wise Men, and large choruses of adults and children who move in and around the audience, accompanied by piano and African percussion. Written by Langston Hughes, noted poet, Black Nativity leads off with a rousing "Go Tell It On the Mountain" and the energy of the production sweeps the audience through "Joy to the World," "No Room at the Inn," "Mary, Mary, What You Gonna Name Your Baby?" and "Away in a Manger."

Black Nativity is the first in this season's South Church Andover Performing Arts Series.

The Norman Luboff Choir performs February 9, soprano Nora Bostaph, March 11, and folksinger Ed Parker, April 12. Tickets may be purchased in Andover from Missions Traders, 38 Florence St.; Liggett Rexall Drug, Shawsheen Shopping Plaza; Thompson's Office Products, 45 Main St.; or at the church office, 41 Central St.

South Church, founded in 1711, actively supports the arts through these performances, recognizing their inspirational contribution to the community. Pastor Westy Egmont and music director Keith Gould oversee the 1985 art series which is chaired by Dana Shattuck.

The Performing Arts Series is a community event offered by this congregation which is also active in local mission projects, international efforts, Christian education, services to the divorced and separated, youth, counseling and, of course, worship.

Caroline Steven Rogers

A memorial service will be held for Caroline Steven Rogers, who will be remembered as the founder of the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum, at the North Parish Church this Friday, who died Nov. 11 at her residence at 580 Osgood St. She was 92.

She was the first woman to cross the English Channel in a plane, a stroke victim who took tennis lessons in her 80s, a driving force behind local preservation efforts and endless spirit which drove her to study braille and lip reading when she began to lose her hearing 30 years ago.

Her grandfather, Nathaniel Stevens was the founder of Stevens Mills, formerly located in North Andover, in 1813. Her father, Samuel Dale Stevens, was an officer in the mill. Her father's collection of cloth-making equipment and spinning wheels, bequeathed to her upon his death, became the foundation of the North Andover Historical Society's textile collection.

Born in North Andover April 26, 1894, she was the daughter of Samuel Dale and Lucy Amelia (Abbot) Stevens and was a graduate of Winsor School in Boston. A 1917 graduate of Bryn Mawr College, she undertook graduate studies at M.I.T. Department of Public Health and Harvard University Medical School.

She served as a Red Cross Nurse's Aide with the Children's Bureau on overseas duty in 1918 at Anile de Luxembourg, Toul, France, and in 1921, became the first woman to be flown across the English Channel.

She leaves her husband, Dr. Horatio Rogers, and four children, Samuel S. Rogers of Andover, Lucia R. Vorys of Sante Fe, New Mexico, Haatio Rogers Jr. of Coral Gables, Fla., and Amelia R. Guise of Blacklick, Ohio. She is also survived by 15 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

A memorial service at the North Parish Church will be held Friday at 2 p.m. Burial will be private at Ridgewood Cemetery, North Andover.

Memorial gifts may be sent to the Lawrence General and Massachusetts General hospitals.

He was the widower of the former Pauline E. (Peterson) Johnson, and is survived by two sons, Elmer Theodore Johnson of Ascutney, Vermont and Paul A. Johnson of Whelling, Ill., and was the father of the late Shirley J. Hoyt of Andover.

A graveside service was held last Saturday morning at the West Parish Cemetery, Andover. Arrangements were under the direction of Edgerley and Besson Memorial Home, 743 Main St., Reading, Mass.

Selectmen Issue Warning

The issue of selling liquor to minors—one very much in the public eye lately throughout the state—came home to Andover at the Nov. 4 meeting of the Board of Selectmen. After a brief hearing, board members voted to send a warning notice—the standard response for a first offense—to the owner of Wine Seller, Inc. for a liquor license violation in which an employee of that store sold a case of beer to two underaged customers.

Andover police officer Robert Cronin, who had been the arresting officer in the Aug. 28 incident, told the board that he had apprehended Shawn Abate, 18, and Peter C. Ring, 20, both of Andover, at 12:48 p.m. after he had seen Abate place a case of beer in a car driven by Ring. The beer, Cronin said, had been bought at the Wine Seller in Shawsheen Plaza.

Upon arrest, Abate denied having or showing false identification for the purchase.

The Wine Seller employee, Paul Sciuto, told Cronin that he had not asked for an I.D. Abate was a regular customer who, he explained, had shown an I.D. three times in the past.

Board member Jerry Silverman asked Cronin whether Abate looked substantially older than his 18 years. "He's a good-sized kid with a baby face," replied the police officer.

Pleading on behalf of his client, Wine Seller owner William Burliss, Atty. Anthony Campani questioned the veracity of Abate's denial that he had ever owned a false I.D. He alluded to the relative inexperience of the employee who had made the sale, and he detailed Burliss' record, which he said had shown no liquor license viola-

Ballardvale Native In Tribute To Korea, Vietnam Veterans

By Susan K. O'Neill

They stood in the somber drizzle on Monday, at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month; a collection of young singers and musicians, color guards, local politicians, veterans and family members of those, living and dead, who had served their country.

A few brightly-patterned umbrellas and a handful of small children, duck-like in yellow slickers, punctuated the grey mists that muted Ballardvale's Green, as the crowd stood, shivering, listening to the man at the podium.

The man, Brig. Gen. John E. Haggerty, Ret., a much-decorated veteran of three wars, opened his brief, but eloquent, Veterans Day eulogy by sketching a few memories of his childhood in Ballardvale—playing in the park; skating; swimming in the river.

Then, abruptly serious, he addressed his remarks to the latest and least honored of veterans, those who served in Korea and Vietnam.

Of those who served in Korea—"a cruel, brutal and tough war"—Haggerty said, "You committed yourself to the task; you accomplished it with valor."

The nation, he said simply, was proud of those who had served.

Vietnam veterans—60,000 of whom died in the war—had "performed with valor at every turn," said Haggerty. He cited the 3,000 soldiers still missing in action and added, "Hopefully, we'll be able to resolve that in the near future."

Haggerty praised those in the military now stationed throughout the world, calling them a "shield for the American people and everything we believe in." He declared his hopes that the present military will not have to serve in war—adding, however, that if they should, "they have learned courage, valor, tenacity and patriotism" from the veterans of Korea and Vietnam.

In closing, the general expressed his hope that we as a nation can pass on to posterity, "a century of real peace." He then thanked those assembled for giving him the opportunity to come home to his native Ballardvale for this occasion.

Prior to Haggerty's address, John Doherty, commander of Andover Post 2128 V.F.W., had called the ceremonies to order. The Andover High School Band and Chorus joined in the National Anthem and the Rev. Charles B. Mansfield, of Andover's Free Christian Church, offered the invocation.

After Haggerty spoke, Patrick Flynn of the V.F.W. and Clarence Johnson of the American Legion laid two wreaths before the granite-and-bronze monument to those who had died in Korea and Viet Nam. V.F.W. and Legion representatives fired the memorial volley, and John Stephens of the Andover High School Band played Taps.

Following the playing of "Amazing Grace" by piper William O'Hare of the Clan McPherson Band, Roger Desharnais raised a black flag emblazoned with silver—the silhouette of a soldier and the letters "P.O.W.—M.I.A."—on the flagpole beside the memorial. Desharnais, president of the Lawrence outreach office of the Massachusetts Vietnam Era Veterans Association, dedicated the flag-raising to the 2,493 Viet Nam veterans who are still listed as Missing In Action. "I raise this flag as a vigil," he said. "That we will not stop until they are home."

Three plaques to Andover area soldiers who died in the World Wars were dedicated by William Dalton, the chairman of Andover's board of selectmen, and selectman Gerald Silverman. Rep. Sue Tucker dedicated the green's new flagpole to Ballardvale's first librarian, Martha Byington, calling her "a tough woman in the very best sense"—an individualist who brought honor to herself, her family and Ballardvale.

Prior to the 11:30 Ballardvale observance, a brief ceremony was held at Andover's Spring Grove Cemetery. Attended by a smaller crowd—color guards from the Fleet Hospital Company 1A of the Lawrence Navy Reserve, the Andover Police Department, the Lawrence Marine Recruiting Station, and the Merrimack River Station of the Coast Guard; representatives of V.F.W. Post 2128 and American Legion Post 8; members of the V.F.W. Ladies' Auxiliary, and a few spectators—it featured a brief eulogy by Rev. Mansfield and the laying of commemorative wreaths at the foot of the war memorial.

Country Club Addition Denied

By Lisa Waterman

The petition by Cormier-Andover Inc., 59 Chandler Road, Andover, for a special permit to construct a new building consisting of 60 rooms on the grounds of the Andover Country Club, 60 Canterbury St., was denied by the Zoning Board of Appeals in a tentative decision during Tuesday evening's meeting of the board.

"We can not carry an expansion of a non-conforming use out forever," Wesley Whitney, chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals said. "There is a point reached that goes beyond what is permissible under the law for a non-conforming use. If this was granted there would be no limit as to where you could go with a ten-room innkeeper's permit."

The section of the petition that consisted of the construction of a two-story stair tower with a covered patio at ground level and an open terrace above will be heard during the Dec. 5 meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

The section of the petition that concerned the two-story stair tower was presented during an October meeting of the board. Two of the members participating in Tuesday's deliberation hearings were not present in October and felt it would not be fair to the petitioner to make a decision without a second hearing regarding the two-story stair tower.

Cormier-Andover, Inc., has the option of re-submitting the petition and requesting a variance under the Zoning Bylaw instead of a special permit for the construction of the 60-room addition.

Atty. Phillip Sullivan informed the board that he would discuss the tentative decision of the board with his clients and will appear during December's public hearings of the zoning board with further information concerning the two-story stair tower.

A special permit was originally granted by the board that would have allowed the expansion of the walls of the clubhouse and an addition within the original clubhouse structure.

Plans were changed when owner, Yvon Cormier, decided to leave the original clubhouse intact because it was such a landmark in town, according to Lynne Boda, manager of the Andover Country Club.

The new plans called for the construction of a new building adjacent to the existing clubhouse overlooking the eighteenth hole, with 60 sleeping rooms, an office and recreation room.

Day Care Center Approved

By Lisa Waterman

Cuddle Care Inc. will be coming to Andover, due to a tentative decision by the Zoning Board of Appeals that granted owner Gwen Hedrick approval of a special permit to install a Day Care Center at 123 North St.

Hedrick was denied approval of a special permit by the board in June on her petition last April for her original site on the corner of Wild Rose Drive and Lowell Street. The kindergarten teacher's plan was to put her business in a fire-ravaged home that for ten years stood in ruins at the corner of Wild Rose Drive and Lowell Street.

It was denied without prejudice by the board in a June 7 decision that cited traffic flow and the potential unloading and loading of children at any one time in this area. Petitions of over a dozen residents of Wild Rose Drive cited a bad traffic, noise and general distraction as objections to the proposed day care center.

"Additional traffic on North Street will not amount to a hill of beans," Chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals Wesley E. Whitney said. "The Zoning Bylaw does permit the location of a childcare center in the area."

The board called for Hedrick to insure that the existing chain link fence is suitable to keep children from wandering into neighboring yards and that the parking and circular driveway plans be drawn by a land engineer and submitted to the board.

A petition with the signatures of 14 residents of North Street, in opposition of the proposed day care center, was presented to the board during last Thursday's public hearing. The petition stated that the residents did not want a day care center in a single resident district and stated concerns about elderly or invalid residents being disturbed by active children and the subsequent effect a day care center might have on property values.

The day care center will have to be licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. It will be licensed for up to 10 children.

Veteran's Day Observance

An Increase - - Why?

Andover residents and businesses will, within the week, be receiving their new tax bills which will reflect an increase of three percent or more on their annual dues to keep their town afloat.

While some may feel that continual tax increases are inevitable, there is every reason for Andover people to ask for a reasonable explanation as to why this municipality has to increase its rate in view of several factors.

Our form of government, open town meeting, easily affords administrators an easy out in providing some explanations. Town meeting this year, meaning you the general public, approved such items as additional police and firemen, additions to the water treatment plant, and a new sewage pumping station, among other items. Now, it becomes an easy thing to say that since the town wanted and approved of these items it is up to the community at large to bear the costs.

That may be all well and good in other communities, but, here, in Andover, there would appear to be some cause for questioning why increased taxes are necessary to accommodate needed increased services.

Take the water department improvements as a case in point.

Selectmen have already approved an increase in water rates to make that department as self-sufficient as possible. Industrial users will pay a higher rate than residential customers, the same as they do on their general tax bills, which somehow or other says something about our industrial climate here.

The same situation applies to the sewer department. For many years the town has been planning replacement of the Riverina Road sewage pumping station. The project is now underway and will be financially aided by some state and federal funding, thus easing the load on the local taxpayer.

But this project will be put up as an example of why taxes need to be increased.

Five new patrolmen were added to the police department. The increased number of parking tickets and other fines imposed on motorists alone, should come close to easing the financial burden this has placed on Andover taxpayers.

Fortunately, no one has found a way to apply a user fee to the use of the services of the Andover fire department, but the four additional men added to the department this year certainly should not cripple the financial planning mechanism of the annual budget.

Finally, as a logical question as to why an increase is necessary, let us point out that Andover realized a $1,344,794,449 increase in total valuation this past year.

There is no way of knowing at this time, but it doesn't take much imagination to realize, there will again be a substantial increase in valuation next year from appearances in the West Andover industrial area and the number of new homes continuing to be built here.

With all the user fees paid by Andover residents, all the efforts to make some municipal department self-sustaining, all the permit fees and even the purchase of 'Keep Andover Clean' bags to have your trash picked up, coupled with a very substantial increase in valuation, isn't it fair to ask why the increase in taxes?

Report To Andover

By Rep. Sue Tucker

"There Ought To Be A Law"

Last week was the deadline for filing bills to be considered in the 1986 legislative session. Among the bills I filed or co-sponsored are measures to:

- Provide a tax exemption for families who care for their elderly relatives at home.
- Establish an employee productivity and suggestion award program in state agencies. Many corporations (and other states) have saved millions by encouraging employees to suggest ways to make operations more efficient, faster and less expensive. My bill calls for financial incentives for employees whose suggestions are adopted.
- Expand nutrition and food programs for low-income pregnant women and infants.
- Strictly control computerized telephone solicitations. Frankly, I would ban these nuisances altogether, but that appears to be unconstitutional. At the very least, citizens should be able to easily remove their number from these sequential dialing machines and the cost of keeping "cleaned" lists should be paid by the advertiser.
- Raise the estate tax floor from $60,000 to $200,000. This is long overdue in light of today's real estate values.
- Require security measures in mall parking lots. This problem was brought to my attention by an Andover resident: the more research I do on this issue, the more these parking lots appear to be free-for-all zones, particularly threatening to women and the elderly.

In addition to legislation, there are several local projects involving state funds which are high on my agenda. Working with the Board of Selectmen to improve traffic safety is of prime concern. A plan for better access into Lowell Junction as well as four traffic light projects are currently in the work: a four-way stop at Elm Square for pedestrians; a set of signals at the River Road interchange; a light at at least one intersection on the Route 125 stretch from Merrimack College to Gould Road; and a light at Waverly Road and Route 114.

The restoration and preservation of old Town Hall is a fascinating project, near and dear to many Andover citizens, and I am working diligently to obtain some state funding for this endeavor. Harold Parker State Forest is another public facility which deserves attention. A local forest advisory board has done an excellent job of planning and advocating for trail and facility improvements in Harold Parker.

Participating in the Andover Industry/Business/Community/Education Collaborative is one of my favorite local projects because it represents what is so special about Andover: a group of diverse community leaders volunteering their time to plan and implement programs to improve learning in our public schools.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — November 1910

In the recent annual settlement between the state treasurers of the towns of Methuen, North Andover and Andover, to Andover, as usual came the largest balance. This is due to the large business corporations and national bank holdings here. $34,413.96 is the balance due the town from the state.

Last Saturday afternoon and evening, the pleasant home of Mrs. Eliza Higgins on High Street was thrown open to receive many friends who came to congratulate her on having reached her 75th birthday. During the day and evening she entertained about 75 guests.

The few days of warm weather which we had last week, have caused the trees and shrubs to think that spring is coming. A bush near Smith and Manning's store is endeavoring to put forth leaves from its swelling buds.

The "farmers" throughout the town seem to be much in favor of holding dancing parties this fall. They will hold one in Bradlee Hall, Ballardvale, tomorrow evening, and all hands are requested to be present. The Columbian orchestra will furnish the music.

50 Years Ago — November 1935

The town planning board is very anxious to hear from any citizens who have objections to or suggestions about the proposed zoning bylaw. Every effort is being made to draw up a bylaw which will be acceptable to the town.

A testimonial banquet will be tendered to Eugene V. Lovely, coach of Punchard teams for the past 25 years, by all the ex-lettermen of the high school in the town hall.

next month. An excellent program has been arranged in tribute to the popular mentor, and is expected that the hall will be packed by Punchard alumni.

Two persons were slightly injured late Saturday night when two cars crashed into each other on Main Street near Phillips Street. A third car was claimed to have crashed into one of the others, and local police early in the week took out a warrant for the arrest of a Malden man on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and other charges.

A break made between the hours of 1 and 7:45 p.m., yesterday, at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Burt. 26 Salem St., was reported to the police last night. The sum of $6.45 in cash was taken, but though the house was ransacked, there was no damage. The front door was bolted, and police believe that a skeleton key was used on one of the other two doors.

"Being kind to dumb animals" pays, as Mr. and Mrs. George Dumont of Salem Street were able to testify Monday morning, when they were awakened by a tramp dog which they had picked up a few weeks before. They found flames licking up the walls of the kitchen and had it not been for the dog the house might have burned and they might have been at least seriously injured. It is thought that the fire started behind the radiator in the kitchen, the floor of which was badly damaged. A hole was burned through the outside wall.

Branch Bank Wins Approval

The Zoning Board of Appeals approved in a tentative decision plans for the construction of a branch bank facility at 159 River Road.

"We have no problem with the plans, they have stayed with the original footprint of the plan," Chairman Wesley E. Whitney said. Representatives from the Andover Savings Bank will have to submit their plan to the Planning Board for a review and the final plan will be submitted to the Zoning Board for final approval.

In other business: Randolph Nursing Home, 102 Burnham Road, received tentative approval for the installation of a wheelchair lift for access to the front entrance and the construction of a one-story dining-activity room for use of nursing home residents.

MacMiff Realty Trust, 213 Broadway, Methuen, was denied in a tentative decision, a variance from the requirements of the zoning bylaw to allow the construction of a single family dwelling on a lot located on Cheever Circle, which does not meet minimum dimensional requirements. In a decision made during a 1980 Town Meeting, the measurement that constituted a lot would be 15,000 square feet. In the opinion of the tentative decision of the board the allowance of this variance would overrule the precedent that was set in 1980.

Giampiero Pecelli and Myra Jean Pella, of 77 Bailey Road, were granted in a tentative decision the issue of a building permit that was denied by the building inspector on the basis that the premises was in violation of the Zoning bylaw due to the fact that the single family residence housed two kitchens. The fact that a premises houses two kitchens should not be the basis to deny a building permit, according to Wesley Whitney, chairman. The Pecelli residents will be allowed to construct the addition of a family room. Stephen and Jean Piercy, 31 Pine St., were denied in a tentative decision, a variance to allow the continued existence of the garage which, after the addition of a proposed deck, will not meet minimum side yard setback requirements. The board felt that a variance is not needed in this case and could be constructed without one and still meet setback requirements.

INFORMATION CONCERNING CABLE TELEVISION FOR EVERYONE.

By Jim Novo, November 14, 1985

DOING IT YOUR WAY, PART ONE

It's a little too early to determine the response to last week's column regarding the public access question. Although I have received no offers from any resident as yet to devote a few hours of time to the televising of civic meetings, I am sure that some will come in eventually (maybe nobody reads my column). In the meantime, let's talk alternatives.

Most of us probably feel that the airing of civic types of meetings would be beneficial to the community. At the same time, with the pace of today's workplace, and leisure time at a premium, scheduling time to shoot a meeting of this type may be beyond our capabilities.

If you think back over some of what I have written in columns past, you have a sense of the relationships between quality programming, targeted audiences, and funding support through advertising or underwriting. Are you offended by seeing a short commercial before or after the more popular (and expensive to produce) programs on Public Broadcasting Stations? These tastefully produced "underwriting signatures" enable PBS to bring these programs to you in spite of the lack of viewer contributions.

I wonder.....

PeeWee B's Tie Two

In a game that was almost pulled out in the third period, the B's tied Massconomet 3-3. The score was 2-0 with Massco in the lead when Tim Fox scored his first goal of the season on a partial breakaway to the short side of the goalie. Danny Feeley scored on a rebound from Joe Howard to tie the score. Billy Owens' goal in the third period nearly insured the victory, but a quick answer by Massco gave Andover a one-point lead. Mike Daley was steady in the net. Greg Afarian and Mike D'Angelo contributed with their usual team play.

Andover faced one of their toughest opponents, Melrose, on Saturday. All through the game they played a tough checking-style of hockey and the score was 0-0 at the end of the second period. Defensemen Michael Walsh, Matt Tanner, John Constantine and Bobby Sheehan thwarted every attempt by Melrose to get the puck past the goaltender. Joe Liguori used many opportunities to get past Melrose, but no luck. Pete O'Shea and Jay Coburn played a good steady game, taking many Melrose players out of play. With five minutes left in the third period, Owens scored the go-ahead goal. Melrose quickly retaliated and the game ended in a tie.

Warriors Advance In Tourney

By Billy-Ernesto Martin

The Andover varsity soccer team advanced into the quarterfinals of the MIAA soccer tournament by defeating Cambridge Rindge and Latin 3-0. Chris Sapuppo tallied Andover's first goal 20 minutes into the contest on a pass from Paul Meadam. Mike Hardock made the score 2-0 when he tapped one in off a header from David Doyle, off a Barry Tucker corner kick. Hardock completed the scoring early in the second half when he drilled in an 18-yard direct penalty kick. Thanks to good defense (allowing only 12 shots) and goaltending by Bob Pothier (eight saves), the Warriors prevented Cambridge from getting back into the game.

Woburn responded with two tallies and won the hard-fought victory. BOW: Coaches Gerard Koerckel, Gina Hammer and Jay Catanzaro.

The Cobras and Cyclones played a fun scrimmage to end the season and the Cobras won 3-0 with goals by Kathy Doran, off her own corner kick, Jodi Saunders and Gianelly. Merrimack Valley League

Andover Tide 1 - North Andover 1

The first half was scoreless. Chad Gomes gave Andover the lead early in the second when he beat the keeper following some fine passing by Michael Pierro and Rick Bertetti. Andover Tornados 1

Andover Tempest 0

The first half was scoreless as both teams fought for possession of the ball. The Tornados were awarded an indirect kick midway through the second half, following pressure in front of the Tempest net, and Dennis Aikman blasted the ball in over the keeper's outstretched hands (assist Kenny Harvey) to his team a 1-0 victory. BOW: Goalkeeper Danny Lennon for recording the shutout and the rest of the Tornados for a great effort.

Andover Cosmos 1

Andover Sockers 0

The Cosmos completed an undefeated season by winning a close 1-0 victory over the Sockers. After many attempts to score were thwarted by the Sockers' defense, Jeanine Meckel beat the keeper with five minutes remaining, on a pass from Stacey Melillo, to win the hard-fought victory. BOW: Paromita Shah and coaches, Tom Doherty and Larry Picardi.

Trophy

The brand new pink Buick Regal being driven through the streets of Andover by Janet Alberich is a unique "trophy on wheels" recently awarded her in recognition of her leadership and sales achievements with Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc.

In a company that awards diamonds, minks and exotic vacations to top achievers in the approximately 150,000-member sales force, Mary Kay's pink car is undoubtedly the most sought-after prize. The pink car was first offered as an award to top sales directors in 1969 after company founder and board chairman Mary Kay Ash had her personal car custom-painted pastel pink.

Alberich, an independent sales director for the Dallas-based cosmetics firm, won the free use of the pink car by leading her sales unit to exceed specified sales levels during a six-month qualification period. The coveted pink car is the ultimate symbol of success in Mary Kay since, out of 4,500 sales directors, there are only 750 pink Buick Regals on the road.

Alberich joined Mary Kay Cosmetics in September 1972 and earned her sales director position in September 1974.

Women Cagers At Turning Point

The Merrimack women's basketball team proved it belongs in the Division II basketball wars last season. The goal was not to win every game, but rather be in every game. That goal was accomplished in most instances.

Head Coach Marcia Hochman and her 11 returning veterans have survived the hardwood trials and tribulations the past couple of seasons and the coach predicts this is the year her team reverses the trends that have led to a 13-34 record in that time.

"I really see this (year) as a turning point," she said. "We have the ability to be very, very competitive. We started to prove that towards the end of last season when we played with everybody."

By the time the Warriors jelled last season it was too late as the final 10-15 slate and seventh place finish in the Northeast-8 indicates. But 10-15 is a big improvement over the previous season's 3-19 slate. And, with a solid core of 11 juniors returning, Merrimack's record should improve again this season.

Although there isn't one senior on the squad, Merrimack is an experienced club as all juniors have seen considerable playing time the past two seasons. The key player in Merrimack's attack will once again be Jean Clarkin, a 5'10" forward, who has led the club in scoring and rebound two years running. Warrior coaches hope to relieve some of the pressure on Clarkin, who was last year's leader in points (12.2 ppg.), rebounds (8.4 rpg.), assists (3.1 apg.) as well as minutes played (33 per game). Just how much of the burden will be lifted will depend on the progress of the rest of the forward corps which includes juniors Debbie D'Agostino, Alison McLaughlin and Kelley Halloran, plus sophomore Regina Kulbis.

D'Agostino, a co-captain last year who was a consistent swing player averaging 7.8 points and 2.7 rebounds per outing, and Kulbis, an early-season briclayer who developed into one of the club's top inside players averaging 6.3 points and rebounds per game, are two of the hardest workers on the squad and the front-runners for minutes in the frontcourt.

Although the statistics show Merrimack out-rebounded its foes by just under three boards per game, the fact is Merrimack was beaten under the basket on numerous occasions when crunch time came. If that trend is going to be stopped, center Karen Bridges, backup Gail Ostergaard and incoming freshman recruit, 6'1" Terina Vogini, will have to be more aggressive and consistent board bangers.

Four veterans will be in competition in the backcourt with highly-touted freshman recruit Jenny Jenkins for starting assignments. Jenkins was a standout at Immaculate Conception High School in New Jersey last winter, averaging 25 points per game for a 23-3 league championship team. Juniors Kelley Gallo, Karen Marcucio and Shelly Visalli and sophomore Ellen Grossenbacher, combined for less than 14 points per game last year from the backcourt. Gallo, a streak shooter who won a starting job in the season's second half and finished as the club's third leading scorer (7.5 ppg.) may have an inside track on the off-guard spot.

Redgate Runs Over Rangers

By Bob Manning

The Andover Golden Warriors were once again victorious 33-18 last Friday night as they outplayed the Methuen Rangers in just about every category. What was predicted to be a quarterback showdown between Methuen's Jozohos and Andover's Perry, was more of a defensive duel, especially in the first half.

Methuen marched on its first possession and scored after 11 plays on a four-yard run. The two-point conversion failed. Methuen's defense looked as good as their offense as Andover was forced to punt after three plays. The teams traded possessions until late in the first quarter when Steve Redgate burst through the Ranger defense for a 77-yard touchdown. Redgate, a junior, ran for 222 yards in 22 carries. The Rangers came back and were second and goal on the Andover one in the closing minutes of the half. Methuen was hit with an offside penalty and Tim Perry saved a sure touchdown by intercepting a Jozohos' pass in the endzone. Time was running out and, as in many other games this season, the Warriors struck swiftly, surely and in the air with a 46-yard bomb from Perry to Kevin Rourke. Gus Duffy kicked the point and the Warriors led at halftime 13-6.

On their first possession of the second half, Andover marched at will with the running of Redgate and the passing of Perry who had 105 yards passing for the night. Perry scored untouched on a sneak behind Andover's offensive line, which literally pushed the larger Methuen team all over the field. Andover scored again minutes later, when full back Rob Carpentier, virtually untouched, scored his first career touchdown for Andover High. Duffy booted both extra points and Andover now led 26-6 going into the fourth quarter. Methuen gave Andover a serious scare, taking the Warrior defense by surprise and scoring two quick touchdowns. The Warriors looked like they had things in hand, but a Perry fumble provided yet another Methuen chance. The key defensive play came as Dave Sullivan jumped on a Ranger fumble. The Warriors took control with a Perry touchdown from nine yards out. Rob Carpentier took three snaps from center to end the game.

The Warriors put things together offensively with 385 yards on the ground complemented by 105 yards in the air. Redgate was by far the offensive standout as he ran over the Rangers at will.

Andover's defense consisted of Dave Sullivan, Rich Bourdelais, Bob Manning, Bill Dalton, Eric Shenker, Rob Carpentier, Brian Costello, Gus Duffy, Craig Buscema, Jeff Driscoll, Steve Redgate and the Perry brothers.

The Warriors have now won three in a row. They host undefeated Tewksbury (8-0) Friday night under the lights at Eugene V. Lovely Stadium.

Employees Break Records

Raytheon Andover employees celebrated the completion of their 1985-86 United Way campaign on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at a Victory Dinner at the Windsor Mills Restaurant in Dracut.

Joseph A. Bilotta, United Way plant chairman, surprised everyone by announcing a campaign total of $509,030. This figure represents a 16 percent increase over last year's total contributions and was more than 18 percent more than the 1985-86 goal. He told the audience that last year employee participation was a little over 70 percent; this year participation is between 83 and 84 percent.

William H. Swanson, vice president and plant manager, took the floor to present Bilotta with a plaque for all the dedication and hard work he put into the campaign. Then he told the audience, "Not only has the Andover plant broken history with United Way results, but it has broken history in sales. Raytheon Andover shipped $100 million worth of hardware in October. That proves that we can still do our jobs while at the same time raise money for the United Way. This really means a lot to me because the United Way is a cause I believe in."

During the Raytheon United Way Campaign, representatives from the Merrimack Valley United Fund and member agencies spoke during solicitor training sessions and manned information booths in the cafeteria during Kick-Off week.

Andover's William K. O'Brien, managing partner of the Boston office of Coopers and Lybrand (at podium) announces the funds raised by the United Way of Massachusetts Bay's Professional Division in the first month of the current annual campaign. O'Brien, chairman of the division, reported that $845,884, 37 percent of the division's goal, has been raised. He made his report at the United Way's recent "Chronical of Caring" luncheon at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel. The event mascot, Kenner Products' "Care Bear," looks on. O'Brien leads the drive in the area comprised of accountants, advertising agencies and social agencies toward the United Way's total goal of $39 million.

Jewelry makers in Indonesia use natural tree resins as solder. They also place each tiny piece of silver onto their design with a feather quill. In this manner their fine craftsmanship is not spoiled by gobs of metal. The benefit to you in combining tradition with the harmony of the design comes in the pride with which you may wear it. Sure it takes longer to make. But come to MISSION TRADERS and see if it isn't worth the wait.

Interiors Featured In Exhibit

By Virginia Lopez Begg

Two upcoming events at the Andover Historical Society relate to the society's completely revised tour of the Amos Blanchard House.

A new exhibit, "A Fit Place to Live: the Domestic Interiors of the Seventeenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries," opens Sunday, Nov. 17, during regular tour hours and will run through March 5.

The exhibit features items customarily used in Andover homes during those three periods.

The 17th-century vignette focuses on the hall, the main living, cooking and eating space in homes of that time. A special treasure is the 1684 chest made for Abigail Lovejoy, which served as her hope chest when she married Nehemiah Abbott in 1691.

Andirons and a pewter charger are other items on view from the earliest days of the community.

A bed chamber is the scene for the 18th-century artifacts. A courting mirror, lap desk and warming pan bring to life Andover customs in the period of the American Revolution.

A special keepsake is a fragment of Rose Lovejoy's wedding dress. Rose and Pompey (for whom Pomp's Pond is named) were well-known black citizens of Andover at that time.

The post-Civil War period is depicted by a Victorian fireplace wall. A huge mantle hanging, upholstered side chairs and a plant stand are several items included in the display.

The research and design for this exhibit was done by Norma Gammon, chairman, Barbara Alden, Reta Buchan, Vi Curtin, Marge Fenton and Dot Tavern, under the direction of director/curator Marsha Rooney.

The public is invited to a morning coffee Tuesday, Nov. 19, at 9:30 a.m. Home decorating arts will be described by a group of speakers using examples from the Andover Historical Society's collections. Ruth Sherwood will discuss hooked rugs, Ruth Sharpe, samplers; Marge Snell, knitting and yarn-dyeing; Jan Henderson, watercolors; and Bernice Haggerty, stencilling and theorem painting.

These arts and crafts are enjoying renewed popularity and visitors should enjoy seeing examples of early pieces created with so much hand labor in the pre-industrial age.

There is a small charge for the exhibit, no admission for the morning coffee. For information on membership, open hours, tours and educational programs, call the Andover Historical Society office. The office and research library are open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

sophical" reasons for that interest, saying that the town didn't want to treat its different classification groups in a manner that wasn't equitable.

Andover's total town property valuation lies at $1,415,013,550 for fiscal 1986, an increase over last year's figure of $1,344,794,449. According to William Russell, Andover's tax assessor, most taxpayers should notice no major changes in the valuations of their individual properties this year. "This is not a valuation year," he says. "The next will be fiscal '88; we'll be starting on it next fall."

In the few cases where changes might be seen, they will have resulted from the department's attempt to bring an under- or over-valued property in line with the valuation of its neighbors and other similar properties. "We're always looking at property in the neighborhoods," explains Russell. If such a change is large, the property owner will have been informed. Owners having slight valuation changes will probably find out about them on this year's tax bill. "We never have notified people of changes under $1000 in assessed value," says Russell.

Tax bills will be mailed during the coming week for half the year's total—the next billing is tentatively scheduled for April. November's bills will be due for payment on Dec. 16. Tax collector Myron H. Muise cautions that bills unpaid by the deadline will be subject to 30 days' interest at 14 percent.

Wellesley

The Haverhill-Andover Wellesley Club is sponsoring a trip to Wellesley College for high school sophomores, juniors and seniors on Saturday, Nov. 16.

Rides will leave the post office in Andover at 9 a.m. and Friendly's in Newburyport at 9 a.m.

The visit will include extensive tour of the campus, group talk with admission staff and opportunity for informal meetings with students. Expected time of return is 2 p.m.

Open House

Greater Lawrence Technical School, 57 River Road, Andover, will hold its annual Open House Sunday, Nov. 24, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Teachers and administrators will be available to meet with parents and prospective students. All technical areas will be in operation.

We hope you are planning to attend the Holiday Fair at the senior center on Friday evening, Dec. 6, and/or Saturday, Dec. 7, all day. There will be all kinds of gifts, decorations, baked goods, knitted goods, etc. The cafe will be open Friday from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., featuring a menu of scrumptious things to eat. Proceeds will go toward the center activities fund. We know you will want to support this worthy cause.

The Renoir trip is sold out.

The Council on Aging is beginning to prepare its calendar for next year. Any ideas, suggestions or requests will be most welcome. Call the center now with suggestions for trips, activities, classes or other special events you would like.

The next meeting of the council will be Wednesday, Nov. 20, delayed a day from its regular time because

The Ipswich River Watershed Association will sponsor a seminar entitled "Protection Techniques for Water Quality" on Monday, Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 203, Science Building, Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, Route 62. Mike Stroman, aquifer land acquisition program manager, will present information on local, state and federal regulations, laws and programs which can be used to help protect ground and surface water. A short slide show, "Groundwater—Out of Sight, but not out of Danger," will be shown and there will be ample opportunity for discussion.

tions in 15 years. Compani said that, since he had taken ownership of Wine Seller, Inc., Burliss had "cleaned the place up." The owner had no reason or desire to sell to minors. "He has everything to lose," Compani insisted.

Before acting on the violation, board members debated the wisdom of sending a warning letter to owner Burliss, standard policy in first liquor license offenses. "I would question if the policy is adequate protection of the public," said selectman Donn Byrne, "especially in the current atmosphere of litigation."

Ultimately, the board voted unanimously to send the letter. It was noted that, in the case of a subsequent offense, policy requires a period of license suspension.

cheese will be distributed November 19. If you did not register, please, you will have to wait for the next distribution.

Have you thought about the New Year's celebration at the Lowell Hilton? It will run from December 31-January 2 with a smashing party New Year's Eve.

A champagne toast at midnight! Entertainment! Dancing! Fun! And there are other activities for your enjoyment, including an indoor pool and heated whirlpool. Double occupancy is $187. Call the center for more details, but deadline for signing up is fast upon us.

The next mini-clinic, sponsored by the Andover Health Department, will be held November 19 at the Andover Commons. The following week, Nov. 26, it will be at Frye Circle. You must make an appointment for this free service by calling the Andover Health Department.

Lease this 1986 Audi 5000S for $305.00* a month.

Your money generates an uncommon amount of interest when you drive a new Audi 5000S.

And different kind of music

There's no down payment required when you lease this Audi, so that cash is available to earn monetary interest.

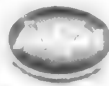

And while other drivers will appreciate the sleek aerodynamics of the automobile's exterior, as the driver, you're in the best position to appreciate how beautifully the aerodynamics work. Interesting

Audi engineering design gives the 5000S a uniquely quiet and ergonomically efficient interior. And environmental disturbance, such as fire or drought, is a critical feature. Trees respond to such and other disturbances by increasing their growth rate, possibly because they are able to grow faster when they are not competing for light.

The 6-cylinder engine has a number of standard features like cruise control, power windows and door locks, electronic climate control plus AM/FM stereo cassette and automatic transmission.

Come in for a test drive and learn details. You have until December 31, 1988 to take advantage of this opportunity.

J.B. Doherty Realtors, Inc.: Community-Minded Relocation

When you buy a new house, moving your family from one location - state, town or, perhaps, country - to another, you're buying more than property. You're "buying into" a community.

As a member of RELO, the world's largest not-for-profit real estate referral organization, J.B. Doherty Realtors, Inc., can give a new citizen everything he needs to know about his new community. RELO's nation-wide agent network means access. Access to the important information - a town's make-up, layout, school system, tax structure, facilities. Access, in short, to familiarity.

In order to join RELO, J.B. Doherty Realtors first had to be approved for membership by its peers. The agency must now pass exacting yearly reviews for productivity standards. In truth, J.B. Doherty does more than pass; it "exceeds," placing consistently among the nation's top 20 RELO agencies of its size for sending out and placing referrals.

Owners Joe and Chris Doherty work hard to serve the Andover community well on a professional basis. Andover natives, each has been working in real estate for more than 12 years. Their father, Joseph B. Doherty, Sr., now a consultant to the agency, is a current board member and past president of the National Association of Realtors. Joe Doherty, Jr., has recently been elected president of the Greater Lawrence Board of Realtors.

The Dohertys hold the same high professional standards for their sales personnel that they do for themselves: all members of the J.B. Doherty team are required to maintain a peak level of education and training.

In the complicated world of real estate and relocation, J.B. Doherty Realtors is working hard to make being a productive community member easy - both for new members of this area, and for those who find themselves "buying into" other areas from here. J.B. Doherty Realtors, Inc., 9 Bartlet St., Andover, is open every day and can be reached 24 hours a day at 475-5970.

Forget Me Not Flower Shoppe: a Matter of Responsibility

Weddings demand perfection. With the myriad details—gowns, tuxes, music, guests, caterers, halls, flowers—there is simply no room for a mistake.

Kim Griffin, manager of Forget Me Not Flower Shoppe in the Shawsheen Plaza Andover, demands perfection for weddings. "Too many florists just send a delivery person with the wedding arrangements," she says. But a nervous bride doesn't want to see a delivery person. "She wants to see a familiar face—one she's dealt with since the beginning. That's why we send a designer and extra flowers and supplies—along with every delivery. The designer's cool hand sets up the arrangements, she makes sure there's not a broken stem or an unmatched ribbon—and that the wedding party is perfect down to the last boutonniere.

Kim grew up with her family's florist shop in Gloucester and holds a degree in Interior Design. She takes her work personally. "When anything's right or wrong, people don't think of the shop," she says. "They think of me." Responsibility—that's why she gives that little extra to everything she does—whether she's designing an arrangement or running the business. A member of FTD (Florists Transworld Delivery Association), she meets the association's high certification standards for the shop, and takes part in special design and management seminars.

Forget Me Not Flower Shoppe deals in everything floral, from the common carnation to the exotic bloom—pineapple flowers, frozen lilies, birds of paradise—all the freshest obtainable. Vibrant in color, form, exotic flowers present a perfect accent to a holiday table. And Forget Me Not has dried and silk flowers, too—by the bushel. And the ceramics, brasswork and baskets to put them in.

"We look like we're small on the outside," says Kim Griffin, "but we have a lot more than people realize. We can do practically anything." To see Forget Me Not's variety and depth for yourself, stop in M-Sat 9-9, Sun 9-2. Or visit the Christmas Open House on Dec. 1, 9-5.

Down The Years

Road maintains it isn't—with a few isolated exceptions. And an aerial survey of the town tends to prove his contention that most hunters are violating the law when they stalk their game within the town limits. The law requires that no firearm be discharged within 150 feet of a road and that no hunting take place within 500 feet of a dwelling. Doyle's thesis is that there are only a few areas in town now where a hunter does not violate these laws.

All parents in the community have been urged to instruct their children in the best methods to protect themselves from molesters. Police Chief David L. Nicoll, in a letter sent home with all school children, asks the parents to discuss the subject with the youngsters and give them instruction that may help to prevent future molestation cases. The police department has handled six of these cases since August—more than would be encountered in a similar period.

Somewhere this week, probably feeling safe after a secure 35 years, there lives a man who calmly murdered Patrolman Robert T. Black the night of Nov. 27, 1925, in the middle of Elm Square. Police from many communities sought the killer—but he was never found. And even today, residents who remember the sensation caused by the killing, claim the authorities knew who the man was, but never could prove a case against him.

The Andover Council of Churches has unanimously adopted a resolution "strongly disapproving" the scheduling of organized athletics on Sundays. Commenting this week on the resolution, the Rev. Frederick B. Noss said the council has been disturbed by the "progressive invasion of Sunday" by such things as the scheduling of athletic contests.

10 Years Ago — November 1975

Three violent deaths in a two-day period, remain under investigation by Andover police this week. Baffling local and state authorities is a motive for the slaying of a 70-year-old woman, who was a passenger in a car driven by her nephew, along Route 93 last Friday night. The woman was a victim of a bullet fired from a passing car after an exchange of blinking lights along the expressway as the cars came from New Hampshire to Boston. Thursday morning, two farm workers from Puerto Rico, employed at a farm on Bellevue Road, were victims of an apparent murder-suicide.

Families and friends joined the traditional tribute to veterans of all wars as Commander Benjamin M. Brown of American Legion Post 8, opened the service and presented James Caldwell, Chaplain of American Legion Post 8, to deliver the opening prayer.

It started out as the worst massacre since St. Valentine's Day, 1933, in Chicago, but ended with the Andover High football juggernaut gaining some respect for pint-sized Merrimack Valley Conference opponent Billerica. Coach Dick Collin's crew entered the game unbeaten, while Billerica was winless and the first quarter played as if only one team was on the field, that team was Andover, as the Golden Warriors went ahead 9-0 after just 56 seconds and padded the spread to 23-0 by the end of the period.

Andover school administrators added yet another chapter to the long-running contract saga this week, when they announced that they had bolted the Andover Education Assoc. for the Teamsters Union.

Opposition to the proposed location of Andover's new post office on Andover Street, has already been registered by the Andover Planning Board.

PART-TIME SEASONAL
DATA TRANSCRIBERSLet the IRS Pay You
It's As Easy As 1-2-3!

With all the extra expenses winter brings (Christmas bills, ski vacations, college tuition?), it's hard to afford too much free time. But now you can turn 24 or 30 of those hours each week into dollars with the IRS during our busy tax filing season. Our Andover Service Center, at Routes 93 and 133, is hiring part-time seasonal Data Transcribers for immediate and future openings—jobs that pay well and require no experience. Here's all you have to do:

1. Pass a very basic Civil Service Data Transcriber Test.
2. Complete our 40-hour paid Data Training Program.
3. Choose your schedule:
Monday-Friday, 6 PM to 12:30 AM;
Sunday-Tuesday, 4:30 PM to 1 AM;
Wednesday-Friday, 4:30 PM to 1 AM.

You'll earn $5.49 per hour plus 10% night differential after 6 PM and incentive pay based on performance (half of our data employees get incentive pay every payday).

APPLY NOW: Early applicants will have the best opportunity for selection of available shifts.

Part-time opportunities for Tax Clerks and Clerks are also available.

The IRS's Andover Service Center also offers generous benefits, including sick leave, paid holidays and free parking.

Start earning money for those winter bills by signing up today. For more information, call us collect at (617) 681-5627. Or come to the Andover Service Center any Thursday by 6 PM sharp for the Civil Service Test. No appointment is necessary!

Only once in a very great while does a Classical Federal Colonial such as this become available. Located adjacent to Phillips Academy this home - built in 1800 - has been restored into one of the most elegant properties in the area.

The beauty and grace of the front circular staircase is offset by the two classical front fireplaced parlors, the oversized dining room with the warmth of its own hearth is ideal for entertaining. There are five well proportioned bedrooms, four of them with their own fireplaces, and 4 1/2 baths.

In addition the lower level includes a fireplaced family room, laundry and utility room, and an additional bath.

WHICH AGENCY TO LIST WITH?

If you are about to put your home up for sale, your first question should be: which agency will you list it with? You will be marketing one of your largest investments. It makes good business sense to select the right agent to help you do it.

The agency should be established. Years of business are important, but you also want to consider reputation. Solicit advice from bankers, attorneys and other professionals.

The agency should be motivated. It should make the extra effort to inform the community about real estate issues. Which agency asks for your business in a professional manner? The agency should be personal. A house is a piece of property, but it is also your home. You should feel comfortable and assume that the selected agency will treat you, prospective buyers and your home with due respect.

The agency should be thorough and competent. No two homes are exactly alike. You should expect the selected agency to offer a complete marketing program tailored to your particular property.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 PUNCHARD AVE., ANDOVER. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

GETTING READY FOR THE "OPEN HOUSE"

An "Open House" is a popular way to expose your home to prospective buyers. Your agent arranges an ad in the local newspaper inviting customers, and perhaps other realtors, to come see your house between specific hours—usually on weekend afternoons. At the appointed time, OPEN signs will sprout up, directing customers to your property. How do you get ready for the big event? First, make sure your house is clean and uncluttered. Go through a room at a time. Vacuum, make the beds, wash the dishes, and make the kitchen and baths sparkle. Mow and manicure the yard. While your agent will accompany visitors through your house, it's prudent to put any personal papers or valuable out of sight. Then you leave. Go to a movie or visit some friends. You may think you're needed to point out all of those special features your agent might forget. Leave anyway. Prospective buyers will be a lot more comfortable if you aren't around, and it will be easier for your agent to help them fall in love with your home if you're away for the afternoon. If you are planning a move, Realty USA, Schruender Real Estate, employs full service professionals who can get your home sold and help you find a new one. Stop by our office at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover or give us a call at 685-5000.

Insurance Fees Thaw Ice Time

By Susan K. O'Neill

Ralph Tadesco of Winchester is an angry man. In a scenario that is becoming all too familiar throughout the country, his business, the USA Ice Arena in Winchester, has just suffered a staggering increase in the cost of liability insurance premiums. Tadesco's insurance problems closed down his arena during the week of Nov. 4, temporarily canceling the week's practice for young skaters from the Andover Hockey Association.

According to Tadesco, the insurance company that had handled his arena for 14 years reviewed his coverage for renewal at the beginning of November and balked at giving him liability coverage at the rate he had been paying—$1,212 for $1,000,000 coverage. "They hesitated; they fumbled around," says Tadesco. Ultimately, he says, the company offered him a renewal—at a premium of $30,000 or more per year.

So Tadesco sought more reasonable coverage elsewhere. In the meantime—between Nov. 4 and Nov. 8—the USA Arena was closed. "I just couldn't open up the rink without liability," he explains. "I have a responsibility to my stockholders and the customer."

Traveling and house leagues from the Andover Hockey Association use the Winchester rink. During the week that the USA Arena was closed, approximately 70 to 80 Andover children missed the week's practice.

Tadesco, in the meantime, found coverage with the Alexander & Alexander agency of Boston. But the new policy didn't come cheap. He now must pay $11,600 for $500,000 coverage—an increase of approximately 1000 percent for half the coverage he received last year. "I had no choice," he said. "My back was against the wall."

Although the situation initially caused only a temporary inconvenience to Andover area skaters, the leap in liability costs will almost certainly make ice time at the USA Arena—and other private rinks—more expensive. Tadesco says that he has not raised his rates yet—but he can't promise not to pass at least some of the increase on to the consumer in the future.

Tadesco feels that his rink is a victim of the insurance community's reaction to increased litigation and the drop in interest rates on their investments. He is angry that he must comply with the exorbitant rate rise in order to exist. "I spent half my life building a business," he says. "If this continues, they'll be forcing us out of business." Which means, he adds, that his customers will have to seek public or school-based rinks.

Tadesco and other rink owners are banding together through such professional associations as the Ice Skating Institute of America and the United States Figure Skating Association to bring their mutual insurance problems to the attention of legislators and the general public.

Together, they hope to change the situation somehow. "But no matter what we do as a unit or a whole," he adds, "It'll take a long time."

Meanwhile, Ralph Tadesco pays 10 times last year's liability rates for half the coverage. His arena stays open; Andover skaters practice and play on the ice. And their parents pay for their ice time at a rate that might very well be history by next season.
